OVERVIEW

International Developments

During July 2014, the US dollar appreciated against the euro but depreciated against the Pound sterling and Japanese yen. At the beginning of the month, the US dollar was supported by strong US June 2014 employment data. The US currency pared some gains after the minutes of the US Federal Reserve's June 2014 meeting indicated that the central bank was in no rush to raise interest rates. Thereafter, the US dollar resumed its uptrend after Fed Chief Janet Yellen, at the semiannual Monetary Policy Report to the Congress, hinted at a tightening of monetary policy. The US currency remained well bid on its safe-haven appeal as geopolitical tensions aggravated following the downing of a Malaysian airliner in Ukraine. As expected, the Federal Open Market Committee, at its meeting on 29-30 July 2014, cut its monthly asset purchases by another US$10 billion to US$25 billion and said that rates would likely remain close to zero for a "considerable time". The US dollar also gained some support as stronger-than-expected US gross domestic product and labour market data bolstered expectations that the Federal Reserve would adopt a more hawkish policy stance.

The euro depreciated against the US dollar, trading at an average of US$1.3553 in July 2014 compared to an average of US$1.3597 in June 2014. From an intra-month high of US$1.3683 reached on 1 July 2014, the single currency dropped on the European Central Bank's (ECB) dovish monetary policy stance. On 3 July 2014, the ECB kept its key refinancing rate at 0.15 per cent. At the post-meeting conference, ECB President Mario Draghi highlighted the downside risks facing the euro zone and warned about the effects of a strong euro on economic growth. The single currency tumbled as a 10 per cent fall in the shares of Portugal's largest listed bank, Banco Espírito Santo, shook stock markets across Europe on contagion concerns. The euro continued its declining trend on worries over the first economic sanctions imposed on Russia by the European Union and the potential impact on the fragile euro zone economic growth. The single currency dropped to an intra-month low of US$1.3395 at the end of the month as a fall in German business sentiment heightened concerns that geopolitical tensions were weighing on the euro zone economy.

The Pound sterling strengthened against the US dollar in July 2014, trading at an average of US$1.7088 compared to an average of US$1.6900 in June 2014. The UK currency started the month on a positive note, hitting an intra-month high of US$1.7173 on 4 July 2014, as data showed the UK manufacturing sector had strengthened in June 2014. On 10 July 2014, as widely expected, the Bank of England kept its bank rate unchanged at 0.5 per cent and maintained its bond-buying programme unchanged at GBP375 billion. The minutes of the July 2014 Monetary Policy Committee meeting failed to boost expectations of an interest rate hike by year-end. The Pound sterling, thereafter, fell as weak economic data added to signs that Britain's economic recovery might not be as robust as expected and on the US dollar's broad-based strength. The UK currency hit an intra-month low of US$1.6922 on 31 July 2014.

In July 2014, global equity markets posted a negative performance amid uncertainties in the global economy. Geopolitical tensions and renewed euro zone worries triggered profit-taking following the recent strong stock market rally. Sentiment was also hit by fears about the health of Portuguese lender Banco Espírito Santo, which reignited concerns about the creditworthiness of the European banking sector. The MSCI Developed Markets Index and MSCI Emerging Markets Index rose by 1.8 per cent and 1.4 per cent, respectively while the MSCI Global Equity Index fell by 1.7 per cent. In Europe, the DAX, CAC 40 and FTSE 100 fell by 4.3 per cent, 4.0 per cent and 0.2 per cent, respectively. The Dow Jones, S&P 500 and Nasdaq went down by 1.6 per cent, 1.5 per cent and 0.9 per cent, respectively. In contrast, the Nikkei rose by 3.0 per cent, buoyed by a weaker yen and robust earnings from blue chips. The Shanghai Stock Exchange Composite Index, Hang Seng and Bombay SENSEX rose by 7.5 per cent, 6.8 per cent and 1.9 per cent, respectively.

NYMEX WTI (West Texas Intermediate crude oil) averaged US$104.6 a barrel in July 2014, down from US$105.1 a barrel in June 2014. ICE Brent Crude averaged US$108.2 a barrel in July 2014, down from US$111.9 a barrel in June 2014. NYMEX and ICE Brent Crude traded at intra-month highs of US$105.3 a barrel and US$112.3 a barrel, respectively, on 1 July 2014.

COMEX gold futures, on average, rose from US$1,282.2/Oz in June 2014 to US$1,311.1/Oz in July 2014 and traded in an intra-month closing range of US$1,281.3/Oz - US$1,338.7/Oz in July 2014 compared to US$1,243.7/Oz - US$1,322.2/Oz in the preceding month. Gold prices hit an intra-month high of US$1,338.7/Oz on 10 July 2014.

¹ The Central Bank Survey(CBS) is derived from the sectoral balance sheet of the Bank of Mauritius. The CBS contains data on all components of the monetary base, which comprises the central bank liabilities underlying the monetary aggregates of the economy. The monetary base comprises all bank notes and coins in circulation and deposits of banks, non-bank deposit-taking institutions and other non-depository corporations with the Bank of Mauritius.

² Following IMF recommendations in January 2013, with effect from January 2010, Liabilities to Central Government now include deposits of budgetary central government, extra-budgetary units and social security funds, as well as their holdings of Bank of Mauritius securities, which were formerly classified as "Deposits and Securities Other than Shares, Excluded from Monetary Base". Figures may not add up to totals due to rounding.

(ii) CORE1 excludes "Food, Beverages and Tobacco" components and mortgage interest on housing loan from the CPI basket.

(iii) CORE2 excludes Food, Beverages, Tobacco, mortgage interest, energy prices and administered prices from the CPI basket.

(iv) TRIM10 truncates 5 per cent of each tail of the distribution of price changes.

Notes:

- (i) The Mauritius Exchange Rate Index (MERI), which is a weighted average of bilateral exchange rates for the Mauritian rupee, is a summary measure of the rupee's movements against the currencies of its important trading partners.
- (ii) The choice of currencies has been influenced by the importance of the currency distribution of trade flows of Mauritius with the rest of the world.
- (iii) Two indices have been derived: MERI1 and MERI2. MERI1 is based on the currency distribution of merchandise trade, while MERI2 is based on the currency distribution of merchandise trade and tourism earnings.
- (iv) The base year of the MERI is January - December 2007 = 100.
- (v) An increase (decrease) in the index indicates a depreciation (appreciation) of the rupee.

[^] Provisional.

¹ 2011 and 2012 data have been revised and are not strictly comparable to previous years and 2013.

This is largely due to revision brought in 2011 and 2012 balance of payments statistics, which have been supplemented with results obtained from the Foreign Assets and Liabilities Survey (FALS 2013) conducted last year. Direct investment data, besides equity, now also include reinvested earnings and shareholders' loans.

For further information on the revision for 2011 and 2012, please refer to the communiqué that has been released on the Bank's website: https://www.bom.mu/pdf/Communique/Communique_March_2014.pdf

Figures may not add up to totals due to rounding.

² Provisional.

¹ 2011 and 2012 data have been revised and are not strictly comparable to previous years and 2013. This is largely due to revision brought in 2011 and 2012 balance of payments statistics, which have been supplemented with results obtained from the Foreign Assets and Liabilities Survey (FALS 2013) conducted last year. Direct investment data, besides equity, now also include reinvested earnings and shareholders' loans.

For further information on the revision for 2011 and 2012, please refer to the communiqué that has been released on the Bank's website: https://www.bom.mu/pdf/Communiqué/Communiqué_March_2014.pdf

Figures may not add up to totals due to rounding.
